Total		42	130

When this fleet was equipped for sea, it carried 8470 men.

In the year 1581, the ships and boats employed in England amounted to 72,450 tons, and 19,290 men.

No. II.

THE Royal Navy at the death of King James I. consisted of 62 sail.

Money expended for the use of the navy £6,600, per annum.

No. III.

THE Royal Navy when King Charles I. was dethroned, in the year 1642, consisted of 82 sail. In the year 1654, during the civil war, its expences amounted to 850,610*l.* and in the year 1660, at the restoration of King Charles II. its tonnage was 62,594.

No. IV.

An Abstract of the Royal Navy in the Month of August, 1678, in the Reign of Charles II.

Rates.	Number.	Men.
First	5	3135
Second	4	1555
Third	16	5010
Fourth	33	6466
Fifth	12	1400
Sixth	7	423
Fireships	6	340
<hr/> Total 83		<hr/> 18,328

These were actually on service, besides a number of hired armed vessels. Eleven capital ships had been newly launched, and nineteen on the stocks; the whole making the navy to consist of 113 sail. In the year 1679 the number on service was only 76.

Rates.	Number.
First	1
Second	3
Third	15
Fourth	30
Fifth	12
Sixth	15
<hr/> Total 76 carrying 1204 men.

At the death of King Charles II. the navy had been so much neglected that there were only 24 ships at sea, none above a fourth rate, and not more than 3070 seamen employed. The 60 new ships were suffered to rot in the harbours, out of which they had never stirred, and were in danger of sinking at the moorings.

No. V.

An Abstract of the Royal Navy at the time King James II. abdicated the Throne on the 12th of December, 1688.

1. The first group of people who are interested in the study of the history of the world are the historians. They are people who study the past and try to understand what happened and why it happened. They use a variety of sources, including books, documents, and artifacts, to reconstruct the past. They also try to understand the people who lived in the past and how they thought and felt. Historians are interested in the history of the world because it helps them to understand the present and the future.

1. The first group of people who are interested in the study of the history of the world are the historians. They are people who study the past and try to understand what happened and why it happened. They use a variety of sources, including books, documents, and artifacts, to reconstruct the past. They also try to understand the people who lived in the past and how they thought and felt. Historians are interested in the past for a variety of reasons. Some are interested in the past because they want to know what happened and why it happened. Others are interested in the past because they want to understand the people who lived in the past and how they thought and felt. Still others are interested in the past because they want to learn from the mistakes of the past and avoid them in the future.

Employed chiefly in the North Sea.
